

B: both in-plane pole components govern alignment; the normal component does not alignment gained toward the real plane [deg]

